

Wisdom: Proverbs by general subject

Applying what God has said to my life and lifestyle.

Only when we go beyond studying these words and begin to apply these words to our daily lives that we come to know and understand just how practical and life enhancing God's Word can be.

Knowledge: having facts – Knowledge alone is trivia

I know the Books of the Bible (trivia). I have memorized Bible verses. I know what God says...

Believe So What!?!?!
How does this change my life and way of living?

Understanding: knowing how to use the facts I have –

Understanding explains why the Knowledge I have is important and how they can work to my benefit.

I see what God is saying in those verses and how the truth contained in them can impact me. I understand how what God has said applies to me and my life.

Trust So What!?!?!
How does this change my life and way of living?

Wisdom: I apply the facts and my understanding of them to accomplish something of value, to change my life and the way I live.

Walk by Faith I actually apply God's truth to my life – thoughts, words and deeds. I act based on my confidence in God and what He says trusting Him for what I do not understand – yet...

Wisdom: Proverbs by general subject

All wisdom ultimately comes from God

Poetry such as that found in Proverbs and the Psalms presents some challenges when it comes to interpretation.

We take most narrative passages of Scripture literally but poetic passages use imagery and requires a more open-ended interpretation.

Hebrew poetry also uses a technique called parallelism, in which the same thing is said twice, either

- by using different words the second time or
- by saying it in a positive way in the first line and in a negative way in the second (or vice versa).

The thought expressed in the second part is basically the same as the first:

Words used to describe the first phrase may vary from the second but we can fall into error if we try to make each phrase its own theological statement. They convey one unified thought.

We cannot study a collection of sayings the same way we study the teachings of Jesus, the stories of the Old Testament, or the epistles of Paul.

Although some sections of Proverbs have grouped material around a main theme, most of this book consists of small groupings of sayings.

Many sayings stand alone, having little to do with surrounding verses.

This makes Proverbs a difficult book to study passage by passage.

Look for verses that explicitly address the same topics, even using the same phrases and words and then we try to arrive at the overarching principles.

For fun, select a proverb a day. Tape it onto a mirror or write it in your journal. Then try to live it out that day.

Pick it – Learn it

- Pick a topic / subject that you least have a problem with.
- Pick a topic / subject that most struggle with.
Read all the proverb references listed for that subject.
- Each day go over the proverbs for one chapter on that list.
- Be sure to review the verses around your target verse !!
Pick the one verse that spoke to you the most. Why?
Meditate on it. Memorize it...
Pick the one verse that spoke to you the least. Why?
Meditate on it. Memorize it...
If the verse(s) doesn't hit the target, check other translations.
- If you come across others proverbs (or other scriptures) about that topic / subject, add them to the list.

As you dig into a verse...

- What does it say?
- Who does it describe?
- What does it mean?
- What did Jesus and others say about it in God's Word?
- Are there examples of it in God's Word?
- How does it impact me?
- How do I put it to work for me in my life?
- What should I start doing or stop doing?"
- What can I expect?
- What can I expect if I don't put it to work in my life?
